THE PROCTORS AND PRO-PROCTORS

The Proctors and Pro-Proctors are responsible for ensuring that the Statutes and Ordinances of the University are observed and that good order and discipline are maintained within the University. They are members ex officio of various Boards, Syndicates and Committees.

The two Proctors are officers of the University nominated by the Colleges in rotation and elected by the Regent House. By custom, they will already have served for one year as Pro-Proctor. Each incoming Proctor nominates at least one Deputy Proctor, who, again by custom, is the previous year's Proctor. Thus each year there is a team of six Proctors, Pro-Proctors and Deputy Proctors. The Vice-Chancellor also appoints a Special Pro-Proctor for Motor Vehicles. Additional Pro-Proctors may be appointed if required, and there is one permanent Additional Pro-Proctor for Ceremonial Occasions.

Questions about the Statutes and Ordinances, in particular the disciplinary procedures laid down therein, may be addressed to either of the Proctors. Enquiries concerning the constitution and conduct of University clubs and societies should be addressed to the Junior Proctor.

The Proctors, including the Motor Proctor, may be contacted by telephone or e-mail, as shown below, or by leaving a message at the Proctors' and University Marshal's Office, 1 St Mary's Passage, Cambridge (University network 33314; fax 01223 (7)68022).

THE UNIVERSITY CONSTABULARY

Under the provisions of the Universities Act 1825 the University is entitled to appoint and swear Constables. Within 5 miles of Great St Mary's Church University Constables have all the legal powers and privileges of a police Constable.

The Constables attend the Proctors and Pro-Proctors and assist them in the maintenance of good order and discipline.

All members of the University are reminded that it is a criminal offence to assault or obstruct a Constable in the execution of his or her duty; and that under the General Regulations for University Discipline members of the University are required to give their name and College upon request to a Proctor, Pro-Proctor or any person in authority in the University or the Colleges.
