REGULATIONS FOR EXAMINATIONSBachelor of Medicine and Bachelor of Surgery: Revised Curriculum Regulations*With effect from 1 September 2015

The General Board, on the recommendation of the Faculty Board of Clinical Medicine, have approved revised Curriculum Regulations for the degrees of Bachelor of Medicine and Bachelor of Surgery, as set out in the Annex below. The revised regulations will apply to students commencing the clinical course on or after 1 September 2015. The Faculty Board of Clinical Medicine have recommended the new regulations for the following reasons:

- (a) to implement a revision of the teaching programme for clinical medical students, from 1 September 2015. The core curriculum continues to be defined by the Outcomes (which are unchanged) in the General Medical Council's document, Tomorrow's Doctors (2009). However, changes in the method and location of healthcare delivery (for example, a greater emphasis on primary care, outpatients, and other ambulatory settings), as well as the growth of the Cambridge Biomedical Campus, provide opportunities for following patients' journeys through multiple settings, and for deepening students' learning according to their own particular interests;
- (b) to ensure a formal summative assessment and progression point at the end of each clinical year and to spread the assessment load for students more evenly across the clinical course;
- (c) to bring the Cambridge medical courses into line with practice at other medical schools across the country, particularly as regards the maximum duration of the courses, and the number of times a candidate may resit examinations.

The General Board are satisfied that the amendments the revised regulations introduce are minor and that students who commenced the clinical course prior to 1 September 2015 will not be disadvantaged by these changes; temporary regulations have been included to ensure that such a student may apply to the Faculty Board for special permission to be a candidate for a subject on a third occasion and to continue to be a candidate if more than ninety-six months have elapsed since he or she began the preclinical medical course, notwithstanding the introduction of revised requirements.
