Amending Statutes for Newnham College

11 January 2024

The Vice-Chancellor gives notice that she has received from the Governing Body of Newnham College, in accordance with the provisions of Section 7(2) of the Universities of Oxford and Cambridge Act 1923, the text of proposed Statutes to amend the Statutes of the College. The current Statutes of the College and the proposed amendments are available on the College's website at <https://newn.cam.ac.uk/about/governance/governance-documents/>.

The Council will consider the amendments after 10 a.m. on Wednesday, 24 January 2024.

Notice of a benefaction

The Vice-Chancellor gives notice that she has accepted with gratitude a benefaction of HK$40,817,225 from the Hong Kong Jockey Club to endow a Hong Kong Jockey Club Professorship of Global Health (see the General Board's Notice, p. 229). The Council is submitting Graces (Graces 2 and 3, p. 231) to seek approval for the establishment of the Professorship in perpetuity and for regulations for a Hong Kong Jockey Club Global Health Fund to support the Professorship.

Disposal of land by compulsory purchase at the Cambridge Biomedical Campus

11 January 2024

The Council proposes that 1,997 square metres (0.49 acres) of land on the Anne McLaren Building plot and plot 9, located on Francis Crick Avenue at the Cambridge Biomedical Campus, be permanently disposed of by compulsory purchase. This is in accordance with the Transport and Works Act Order submitted by Network Rail in June 2021 and the General Vesting Declarations served on 11 October 2023 and 8 November 2023, to facilitate the Cambridge South Station construction, with ongoing negotiations to secure the highest possible compensation.

The Council, on the recommendation of the Estates Committee, is submitting a Grace (Grace 1, p. 231) for the approval of this disposal.

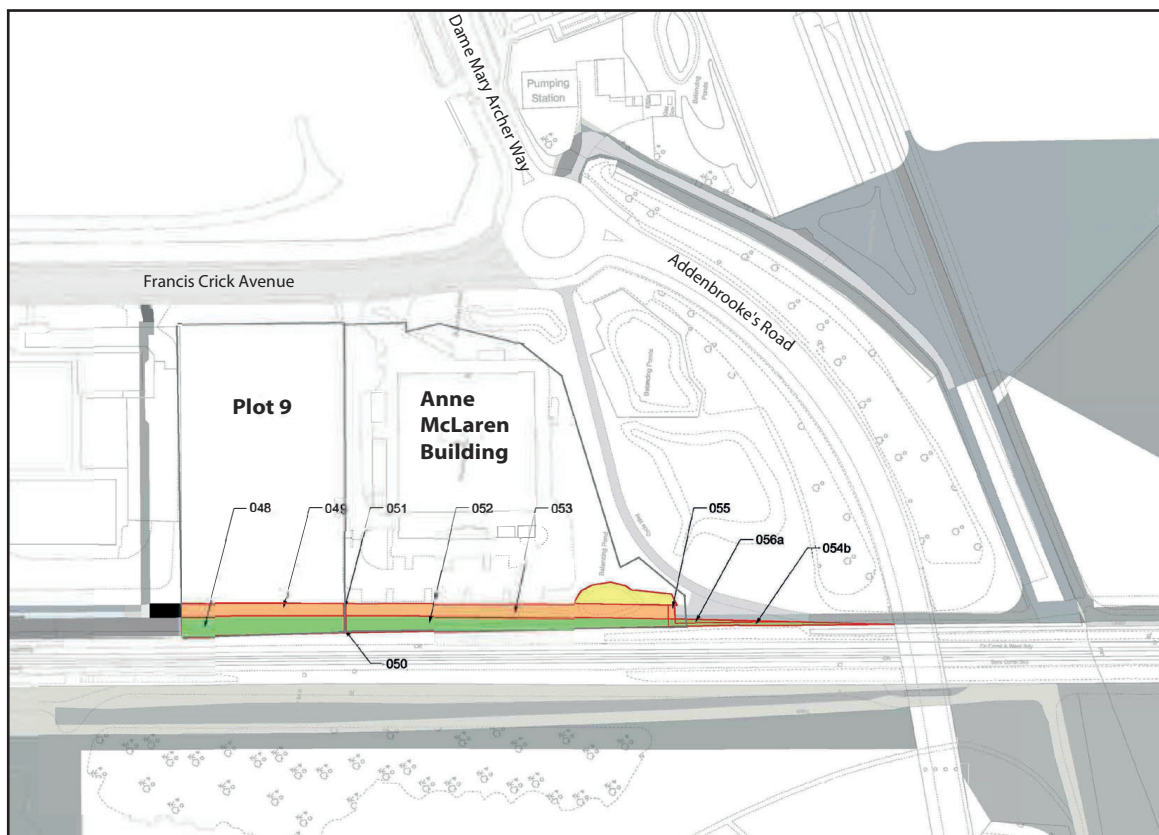

Further information

Cambridge South Station will be located at the Cambridge Biomedical Campus and has the support of the University. Full information on the project can be found at <https://www.networkrail.co.uk/running-the-railway/our-routes/anglia/improving-the-railway-in-anglia/cambridge-south-station/>.

As part of the works to enable the station to be built, the Transport and Works Act Order (TWAO) submitted by Network Rail in June 2021 included both the temporary use of land and the permanent acquisition of land, held by the University on two long leases of 170 years (expiring in December 2177), by Compulsory Purchase. In December 2022 the Secretary of State approved the TWAO. In March 2023 Network Rail took possession of the temporary land. This will be reinstated and given back at the end of the work period. Compensation in the form of a rental payment will be paid for the duration of the occupation of the temporary land.

The University has received two General Vesting Declarations and further notices to confirm the dates that the ownership will pass to Network Rail. Lots 48, 50 and 52 will transfer on 12 February 2024 and lots 54b and 56a on 19 February 2024. The location plan below shows the location of the land for permanent disposal in green and labelled as plot 9, and the land being used temporarily in orange and yellow.

Report of the Council on a revised nomination and election process for Senate elections: Notice in response to Discussion remarks and survey results

17 January 2024

The Council has received the remarks made at the Discussion on 5 December 2023 on the above Report (Reporter, 2023–24: 6718, p. 113; 6722, p. 200). It has also received 199 responses to a survey on the changes to Senate voting procedures set out in the Report (a series of charts representing the survey results is available at <https://www.admin.cam.ac.uk/reporter/2023-24/weekly/6725/SenateSurvey2024-Charts.pdf>). Although the survey's response rate was not high, its results appear to be broadly in line with the remarks made at the Discussion.

Mr Oddy and Professor O'Kane at the Discussion and 25 survey respondents were not supportive of the proposal to revise the voting system from the single transferable vote (STV) to first past the post (FPTP) in Senate elections.¹ The survey results showed a similar preference for retaining STV, with 83 respondents either strongly or somewhat disagreeing with the change to FPTP compared with 68 who strongly or somewhat agreed with it. The proposal to change the voting system was prompted by strong views against it that have been expressed in the past (see, for example, Professor Edwards' remarks in 2014 on previous proposals to revise Senate procedures, Reporter, 6350, 2013–14, p. 614). As a result, the Council has agreed to withdraw the proposal to change the voting method at this time. The Council will call a ballot on the Senate election voting system when the next Senate election (or ballot) takes place, so that the separate votes can run concurrently. In advance of voting, the Council will publish more detailed information on the advantages and disadvantages of STV and the alternative, drawing on relevant expertise, so that members of the Senate are in a better position to make a decision either to affirm the choice of STV or change to the alternative. In the meantime, STV will continue to apply to the counting of votes in Senate elections.

Professor Evans welcomed the retirement of the Nomination Board, as did 106 survey respondents who strongly or somewhat agreed with this proposal (with 26 against). Two survey respondents noted that the removal of the Nomination Board might have unintended consequences, with unsuitable candidates being put forward. The Council draws attention to its response to similar remarks, made at the Discussion in June 2023 on the introduction of electronic voting in votes of the Senate, about the safeguards to mitigate this risk (Reporter, 6708, 2022–23, p. 838).

Mr Oddy and three survey respondents queried whether it was appropriate to elect the remaining candidate, following the withdrawal or death of any other candidates, without reopening nominations. The Council acknowledges that an election to choose between at least two candidates will always be preferable to the use of this default mechanism (or indeed the Council choosing a candidate if no candidate is nominated). Publicity during the nomination period will aim to encourage members of the Senate to nominate a strong field of candidates and give prompt notice of any changes to the list of candidates. However, if only one candidate remains at the close of nominations, the Council is persuaded that reopening nominations is the best way to ensure the legitimacy of the election result. It has therefore revised the new Ordinance to reflect that.

The survey indicated at least a majority – and in some cases a significant majority – who strongly or somewhat agreed with the remaining proposals. However, there were Discussion remarks or comments in the survey on some other points of detail.

Mr Milner suggested that there should be a minimum period for making nominations, and also that a provision similar to that for the election by the Regent House of members of the Council should be adopted to prevent any election being deemed invalid owing to the misdirection, late arrival or non-arrival of any material relating to it. The Council supports those changes. It has also slightly shortened the minimum length of time between the deadline for nominations and the date voting opens from at least seventeen to at least fourteen days.

Two survey respondents considered it to be incompatible for the Vice-Chancellor to be both the returning officer and the person who would make a decision in an equality of votes. The Report noted that the Vice-Chancellor would delegate the role of returning officer to the Registry, so the Council is content to revise the proposed Ordinance to substitute the Registry as the returning officer. Mr Milner's proposal that the Vice-Chancellor as returning officer should also decide on the form of nominations is therefore revised to take account of this change.

The amendments to the Council's original proposals are noted below.

In the new Ordinance for the Nomination and Election of the Chancellor by amending the last sentence of Regulation 1, the last sentence of Regulation 2, the last sentence of Regulation 7, and Regulations 4(a), 6 and 8, to read as follows:

[1.] Following receipt of notice of a vacancy, the Council will publish the timetable for an election in the Reporter as soon as practicable, and will include information on the arrangements for registration of voters voting electronically and, after consulting with the returning officer, the accepted methods for submitting nominations.^[3]

[2.] The deadline for the receipt of nominations will be at least seventeen days after the Council has published the timetable for an election and at least fourteen days before voting opens.

4. (a) If at the close of the nomination period there is only one candidate, or if only one candidate remains after any other nominated candidates have withdrawn, the Council will reopen nominations by publishing a new election timetable in accordance with Regulation 2.

6. The Registry, or a duly appointed deputy, will be the returning officer. The accepted methods for submitting nominations, the form of the voting paper and the method of casting votes will be determined by the returning officer. The Proctors, or those appointed as their deputies for the occasion, will be in attendance on the two days of voting in person.

¹ No change to the voting system used in ballots on changes to Senate procedures has been proposed. These will continue to apply STV.

[7.] The Single Transferable Vote regulations shall apply to voting under these regulations.

8. An election shall not be deemed invalid owing to the misdirection, late arrival, or non-arrival of any material relating to the election.

^[3] The Council has confirmed, after consulting with the Registry, that the accepted methods for submitting nominations shall be on paper with handwritten signatures delivered to the Old Schools and by electronic means linked to an email account registered with the University for this purpose.

The Council is submitting a Grace (Grace 1 of the Senate, p. 231) for the approval of the recommendations of the Report, as revised by this Notice.

Pilot registration process for online voting in votes of the Senate

The Council takes this opportunity to remind members of the Senate that the pilot registration process is still taking submissions (see Reporter, 2023–24, 6718, p. 111). The registration form is open until 5 p.m. on Friday, 26 January 2024. The Council will report on the outcome of the pilot in February.

NOTICES BY THE GENERAL BOARD

Establishment of a Hong Kong Jockey Club Professorship of Global Health

The General Board has agreed to propose the establishment in perpetuity of a Hong Kong Jockey Club Professorship of Global Health from 1 March 2024, assigned to the Department of Medicine. The Professorship will be fully funded by a gift of HK$40,817,225 (approx. £4.2m) to be held as an endowment on trust by the University (see the Vice-Chancellor's Notice, p. 225). The supporting case for the Professorship was approved by the Resource Management Committee on 15 November 2023.

The Professorship of Global Health will have an excellent track record in an area of global health research most likely related to infectious diseases, vaccinology or human immunity. The Professor will be expected to develop a research programme of international standing and have oversight of global health operations within the Department of Medicine, supporting this work and helping to build collaborations with other investigators across the University. The officeholder will have a particular role in supporting global health research in and of relevance to Hong Kong. This will include coordinating the University's contribution to the proposed Global Health Institute in Hong Kong, a collaboration between the University, the International Vaccines Institute and Hong Kong University. In addition, the Professor will have a role in graduate education in Cambridge, also supporting educational outreach and capacity building. The office has been funded at a level that will allow the appointment of a clinical or non-clinical academic.

The General Board, on the recommendation of the Council of the School of Clinical Medicine and the Department of Medicine, has agreed that the candidature shall be open to all persons whose work falls within the general field of the title of the office.

The Council is submitting Grace (Grace 2, p. 231) for the approval of the establishment of the Professorship in perpetuity.

Establishment of a Professorship of the Public Understanding of Mathematics

The General Board, on the recommendation of the School of the Physical Sciences, seeks approval for the establishment in perpetuity of a Professorship of the Public Understanding of Mathematics from 1 March 2024 in the Department of Applied Mathematics and Theoretical Physics. The supporting case for the Professorship was approved by the Chair of the Resource Management Committee by Chair's action on 22 December 2023.

The full costs of the Professorship will be met from a combination of recurrent Chest income and other existing resources available to the Department of Applied Mathematics and Theoretical Physics (DAMTP). The Faculty of Mathematics has a long-standing commitment to Mathematics outreach and communication to the general public. This commitment is motivated by the desire not only to widen participation in academic study and research by traditionally under-represented groups, but also to increase mathematical understanding among the general public. A key aspect of this activity is the Millennium Mathematics Project (MMP) within DAMTP. A recent external review into the future of this initiative recommended to the Department that the MMP should be relaunched as a centre of excellence of mathematics education, communication and public education. This relaunch therefore provides an exciting opportunity to recruit a high-profile candidate with experience in public communication of Mathematics. Outreach is a core part of DAMTP's mission, and Mathematics outreach has a central role in this, with obvious relevance to widening participation initiatives more widely.

The General Board, on the recommendation of the Council of the School, has agreed that election to the Professorship shall be made by an ad hoc Board of Electors and candidature shall be open to all persons whose work falls within the title of the Professorship.

The Council is submitting a Grace (Grace 4, p. 232) for the establishment of the Professorship.

Establishment of a Professorship of Management Studies

The General Board, on the recommendation of the School of Technology, seeks approval for the establishment of a single tenure Professorship of Management Studies from 1 July 2024 in the Judge Business School. The supporting case for the Professorship was approved by the Chair of the Resource Management Committee by Chair's action on 13 December 2023.

The full costs of the Professorship will be met from a combination of recurrent Chest income and the trading income available to the Judge Business School. The officeholder will also be appointed as the Dean of the Judge Business School, thereby providing senior and academic leadership to the Judge Business School as Head of Department.

The General Board, on the recommendation of the Council of the School, has agreed that election to the Professorship shall be made by an ad hoc Board of Electors and candidature shall be open to all persons whose work falls within the title of the Professorship.

The Council is submitting a Grace (Grace 5, p. 232) for the establishment of the Professorship.
