Pro-Vice-Chancellor (Research and International Partnerships)

The Council wishes to make an appointment to the office of Pro-Vice-Chancellor (Research and International Partnerships) following the death in service of Professor Abell. Over the last few months Professor Anne Ferguson-Smith has occupied the role on an interim basis. The position of Pro-Vice-Chancellor is held for three years in the first instance. The person appointed to the role of Pro-Vice-Chancellor (Research and International Partnerships) would be expected to take up the position on 1 January 2022.

The role

The Council wishes to appoint a Pro-Vice Chancellor to provide senior academic leadership on matters relating to the University’s research activities, with an emphasis on improving its research culture and further strengthening its research profile and impact, in particular in relation to large-scale interdisciplinary initiatives. Further, given the significant synergies between the University’s international and research activities, the Pro-Vice-Chancellor will also hold the portfolio covering international relations.

In particular, the Pro-Vice-Chancellor will lead the development and implementation of strategy and policy relating to research. As part of that effort, building on the foundations put down during Professor Abell's tenure and subsequently continued by Professor Ferguson-Smith, the postholder will be responsible for sustaining and enhancing a supportive research culture that allows the University to continue to thrive as an outstanding research-intensive University with global influence. The successful candidate will further develop and deepen the University's relationships with research funding councils, charities and governmental bodies. The individual will also lead on the University's endeavour to create and maintain large-scale interdisciplinary research, education and public engagement initiatives to address some of the fundamental issues facing humanity. Initiatives already under way include addressing the challenges of climate change and global health.

On the international side of the portfolio, the Pro-Vice-Chancellor will have a particular focus on expanding and further strengthening the University's international collaborations in a manner that underscores the University's values, global character and impact.

Attributes and experience

The successful candidate will have a record of high achievement both with regard to research and as the leader of an academic community (for example as a Head of a Department, Faculty, research institute or reasonably-sized research group). The postholder will have experience working at senior levels with external bodies such as research funding councils and charities and/or with governmental bodies (such as positions of responsibility in the peer review processes of one or more funding bodies); and will have significant international experience, for example, having collaborated with overseas research partners.

The individual will have a proven ability to develop and implement strategies in an environment where authority is derived from influence and persuasion, together with a deep understanding of the collegiate University and how to work effectively within it. The postholder will have a good overall awareness of the six Schools and their operations. The successful candidate will have an outstanding record of personal academic achievement and will have strong experience working collaboratively with professional services colleagues.

The candidate will be recognised as an individual who is able to lead and inspire staff engaged in research at all levels. The individual will demonstrate clarity of thought and an openness to different views, and will have the ability to bring together people from a range of academic and professional services backgrounds. The postholder will also have a deep understanding of, and interest in, the international higher education landscape.

The University of Cambridge is committed to a pro-active and inclusive approach to equality, which supports and encourages all under-represented groups, promotes an inclusive culture and values diversity. The University is particularly focused on increasing diversity among staff on higher grades and especially encourage women and candidates from Black, Asian and Minority Ethnic backgrounds to apply for this vacancy.

Role of the Pro-Vice-Chancellors

The Pro-Vice-Chancellors provide academic leadership to the University to ensure that the University maintains and enhances its contribution to society and its global academic standing. They support the Vice-Chancellor in the delivery of his objectives, and work as a team with the Heads of Schools, the Registrar, the Chief Financial Officer, the Executive Director of Development and Alumni Relations and other senior colleagues.

In addition to the Pro-Vice-Chancellor (Research and International Partnerships), the University has four Pro-Vice-Chancellors with the following portfolios:

- Professor Graham Virgo (Education) and Senior Pro-Vice-Chancellor
- Professor Andy Neely (Enterprise and Business Relations)
- Professor David Cardwell (Strategy and Planning)
- Professor Eilís Ferran (Institutional and International Relations)<sup>1</sup>

Terms of appointment

The Pro-Vice-Chancellors are expected to spend 80% of their time on PVC duties, and 20% of their time undertaking research and/or teaching. The full salary of a Pro-Vice-Chancellor is normally within the range of £130,000–£175,000, but the precise figure will vary as the salary is based on a formula that reflects individual circumstances.

The Council expects to make the appointment at its meeting on 19 July 2021. The Council will be advised by a Nominating Committee chaired by the Vice-Chancellor and with the following additional members: Ms Gaenor Bagley, Professor Tim Harper, Professor Christopher Kelly, Professor Anna Philpott, Dr Jason Scott-Warren.

Expressions of interest and further information

The Nominating Committee welcomes expressions of interest from individuals and nominations of potential candidates for consideration by the Committee. Expressions of interest, including a curriculum vitae and covering letter, and nominations, should be sent by email to the Vice-Chancellor (Stephen.Toope@admin.cam.ac.uk) by 18 June 2021.

<sup>1</sup> Professor Ferran's term ends on 30 September 2021. Dr Kamal Munir will serve as Pro-Vice-Chancellor (University Community and Engagement) from 1 October 2021.
